PREPARE FOR VICTORY LOAN

Final Plans Will be Made by Committee Next Sunday Afternoon

'OVER THE TOP' SLOGAN

Alexandria in Previous War Drives Has Made an Excellent Showing—Efforts Will be Made to Exceed Her Allotment.

The local Victory Liberty Loan Committee is rapidly completing plans for the drive which will begin April 17 and end May 10. Committees have been appointed and the detail work is now being mapped out by the different subcommittees in order that all will be in readiness on the opening day of the campaign.

The final plans for the affair will be completed at a meeting of the general committee which is scheduled to be held at 4 o'clock next Sunday afternoon.

It is proposed by the committee to erect twelve booth at different points of the city for the for the taking of subscriptions and the sale of the bonds.

Alexandria it is believed will go "over the top" as she has done in all previous war drives and the committee in charge, of which Robert S. Jones is chairman, will work hard to see that this is accomplished

SWIVEL CHAIR HERO

"Remember, I Volunteered to Come Here With Wilson," His Cry in Paris.

Being as gallant a fighter as ever spent hours of peril in a swivel chair and endured the hardships of a meagre mid-day meal at the New Willard in Washington, he demanded attention when he reached Paris.

At least this is the story they tell of an army officer who was here with the President. He didn't like the room assigned to him in a thoroughly modern hotel. But he sounded this ultimatum, based apparently on his idea of extraordinary sacrifice and service.

"You've got to treat me right," said the fighter of the Washington front. "Remember, I volunteered to come over here with the President.

The orderly on the elevator—the little fellow with two wound stripes—just smiled.

MISSING AFTER THREATS

Tells His Wife of Alleged Blackmail Attempts, Then Disappears

Following the strange disappearance of Thadius DeVall, automobile accessory store owner, from his home on Livingston road sutheast, Washington, the police have sent out a lookout bearing a description of the missing man.

DeVall, who has a wife and two small children, left his home Saturday night. He previously had told his wife that he had received a threatening letter demanding that he deposit $50 at a certain place on pain of death. Devall had with him at the time of his disappearance several hundred dollars. The police are at a loss to explain the case.

DeVall is described as being 26 years old, five feet nine inches, 145 pounds, smooth face, light hair and was wearing a brown suit and felt hat when he left home.

LABOR TESTS FOR MOONEY

Ove flow Meetings Provided for at May 1st Demonstration.

New York, April 7,—Plans for a "Thomas Mooney" meeting to be held in Madison Square Garden the night of May 1, as announced by the general Mooney committee, include provision for overflow meetings. The committee expects to overcrowd the vast garden for the "Mooney" meeting, at which, it was said, Dudley Field Malone, former Collector of the Port of New York; John Fitzpatrick, recently mayoralty candidate in Chicago, and other prominent men will speak.

"The meeting," the committee said, will be a test of organized labor in this city, and will prove how popular the general strike which was decided upon at the Chicago convention is with the unions of this city."

PREDICTS EARLY PEACE

Lloyd George Says People Must be Patient Pending Final Settlement.

Paris, April 7,—"Let public opinion wait another fortnight, we are nearing the end," Lloyd George is quoted as saying in an interview with a representative of Le Matin.

"Agreement will not be long in coming on all questions concerning Germany," continues the British premier "The peace preliminaries will be ready by Easter."

"But why," asked the interviewer, "should not amount of the war bill whatever it may be, be submitted to Germany before anything else, and why should she not be compelled to recognize her debt?"

"Who says we have not decided that?" was Lloyd George's reply. "Can't people judge our work instead of seeking always to judge our intentions? This conference has had to meet and discuss matters under conditions without precedent in history. All eyes are turned toward it and what is more serious still, all ears are listening at the door. The enemy's ears tingle with joy when they think they observe some hesitation while the ears of our friends who hear only confused rumors, interpret them badly.

"Let public opinion wait a few more days and it will then be able to form an opinion not on rumors, but on facts."

COMING AIR LINERS

Dirigibles With Swimming Pools, Theaters, Etc., Are Predicted.

Detroit, April 7.—Within ten years huge dirigibles, larger then the largest vessels now afloat, fitted with luxurious passenger accomodations, will be flying around the world, according to William B. Stout, chief engineer of the United States Aircraft Engineering Company, of New York in an interview here.

In less than that time, trans-oceanic flights in aircraft fitted with swimming tanks, libraries, bowling alleys theaters and other luxurious conveniences and accommodations for 250 passengers and 150 tons of freight will be common, said Stout.

Aerial taxis will be general in a few years is Stout's belief. He said flying machines of all kinds were being developed so rapidly that in a comparatively short time their employment as freight and passenger carriers will be common and through their great speed be preferable to land and ocean carriers of today.

London, April 7.—The aeroplane of the future may be a huge and hairy monster.

Dr. G. H. Rodman points out that flies experience no difficulty in regard to sideslips and air-pockets, and in his opinion it is because their bodies and wings are covered with rough hair, which "grips" the atmosphere.

He recommends that aircraft designers expenriment in this direction in order to find a solution of some of their difficulties.

SPEAKERS FOR MASS MEETING

Leroy Hodges and Charles E. Ashburner Will Address Citizens Friday

TO BE IN OPERA HOUSE

Large Gathering Expected to Hear Talks on Change of City Form of Government.

The announcement by the Chamber of Commerce of this city, that a public meeting of the tax payers will be held at the Opera House next Friday night, on the matter of a proposed form of city government has apparently awakened much interest. It is now assured, because of the enthusiasm thus awakened, that a large crowd will be present on this night.

The present function of the Chamber of Commerce in this discussion is purely educational, taking this opportunity to make a broad and comprehensive study of this question, giving to both sides every chance to state their position.

The chamber has provided for this meeting well known speakers, men experienced in municipal affairs and government. Among those assured as a speaker on this occasion will be Leroy Hodges, a Virginia lawyer and expert on municipal efficiency Mr. Hodges, for the last eight years has given his time to the study of municipal and state governments and for several years was director of the Bureau of Applied Economics with headquarters in Washington, D C. Prior to the late war Mr. Hodges was sent abroad by the National Municipal League, to study city government in England, France, and Germany

Mr. Hodges served as director of the Bureau of Municipal Research in Petersburg, Virginia, which Bureau was instrumental in the city of Petersburg adopting the city manager form of government lrst year. Mr. Hodges was also one of the leaders in the educational campaign of Norfolk, Virginia, last year, resulting in their adopting the city manager form of government. Mr. Hodges is at present executive secretary for the Governor of Virginia and a member of his staff.

It is also expected that Mr. Chas E. Ashburner will be present to address the mass meeting, and give a full discussion of the practical side of the city manager plan. Mr. Ashburner has the distinction of being the first city manager to take charge of a city in the United States, undertaking his work first at Staunton Virginia, in 1908. Subsequent to his position of city managr of Staunton Virginia, he was called to Springfield, Ohio, but is now back in Virginia, having assumed his duties in the city of Norfolk.

DEMAND DRY LAW REPEAL

50,000 Labor Pnionists in Monster Protest Meeting at Boston.

Boston, April 7,—Organized labor at a mass-meeting on the Common yesterday, under the auspices of the Boston Central Labor Union, protested ratification of the prohibition amendment without an expression of opinion from the people, and adopted a resolution calling upon the President to repeal his proclamation, effective July 1, providing for war time prohibition. Leaders estimated the attendance at 50,000. Parades of union workers preceded the meeting.

The speakers were union men, and included several soldiers and sailors in uniform recently returned from active service.

The resolution declares that "while we join with our fellow countrymen in protecting and maintaining our personal liberties, we have a great interest in opposing prohibition because of its great industrial effect upon the employment of 500,000 workers;" that "we record our protest against the ratification of the eighteenth amendment by 3,864 persons, a majority of the legislators of 36 States, without an expression of opinion from and undemocratic," and "that we reaffirm our belief in the initiative and referendum, in States' rights and personal liberties, and maintain that no question is too great for the people to decide."

ERZBERGER'S DRAFT

Present Peace Leader of Germans Had Vastly Different Perspective Back in 1914.

Mathias Erzberger, chairman of the German Armistice Commission and a member of the German Government, was accused of being the author of a document written in 1914, showing that Germany's peace terms, if she won, would include large annexations and indemnities, Herr Landauer, representative of the Munich Soldiers' and Workmen's Council, declared in a speech at Augsburg, Bavaria, according to a dispatch to the Frankford Zeitung. Landauer, who was speaking at a meeting in memory of Kurt Eisner, the late Bavarian Premier, said he had a copy of the document.

Landauer at first refused to give the name of the uthor, except that he was still a member of the Govermmnt. Finally, however, he said that the person to whom he alluded was Herr Erzberger.

Among the peace terms mentioned in the document, Landuer said, were:

Annexation of Belgium, French Normandy and several towns on the southeastern coast of England.

Annexation of the territories on the eastern fronties of Germany, which have since become separate States.

Establishment of a large Germn colonial empire.

Payment of a war indemnity calculated to cover Germany's expenses during the first 10 months of the war, as well as the entire German debt before the war.

Herr Landauer sserted that these terms were approved in principle by General von Falkenhayn, General von Moltke and Admiral von Tirpitz.

WOMAN RECLUSE LEFT $1,900.

Man's Suit She Wore Lined With Old Bills

New York, April 7.—In the three story frame house in Newark, N. J., in which Mrs. Annie L. Schafer, an aged recluse, was suffocated in a fire Friday night the police unearthed yesterday $1,900 in old bills. The money was hidden in hymn-books, in tobacco boxes, wrapped in old papers and rags, folded in ancient magazines and sewed in the linings and pockets of the man's clothing the woman wore at the time of her death. In an old stove and one chair, constituting the sole furniture of the house, $270 was found.

The woman had lived alone for 10 years, during the last two of which she had never been outside. When in need of provisions she would call to a boy in the street from a window and send him. When the tradesmen arrived she would meet him at the door. No one was permitted to enter the house. Her sole companion was a black and tan dog, which also was suffocated.

She had a mania for collecting not only money but newspapers a nd magazines and the house was filled with paper. Her bed was made on a pile of newspapers thrown in a corner of a room on the top floor.

STABS FALLEN POLICEMEN

Murder May Follow Raid on Crap Game in Freight Car

Wilmington, Del., April 7.—William P. Vandergrift, a Baltimore & Ohio Railroad policeman, was probably fatally stabbed yesterday afternoon by Robert Tylor, alias Jelly Rose, a negro, near the railroad camp in West Wilmington. Vandergrift, with his brother, Harry G., also a policeman on the Reading Railway, were attempting to break up a crap game in a freight car when the attack occurred.

While chasing the men Vandergrift stumbled and fell and while lying on the ground Taylor, it is said, plunged a dirk into his body and then fled. Pp to a late hour Taylor had not been located. Vandergrift is in the Delaware Hospital in a serious condition.

OUR CITY JAIL AND ALMSHOUSE

State Board of Charities and Corrections Makesc Favorable Report

CITY FORM ALL RIGHT

Inmates Apparently Contented—Has Capacity for Thirty-Five—Present Number Eighteen.

Mayor Thomas A. Fisher has received from the State Board of Charities and Corrections a report of officials who recently inspected the jail and almshouse in this city. Apart from a recommendation that the jail should have electric lights, that institution was found in a satisfactory condition.

The report on conditions at the alms house was equally encouraging. It shows that this institution has a capacity for 35 inmates, while the number of those now being entertained is 18. Five are white males and one colored. Four white females and six negro females are inmates. Four white men and three white females are able to work. Two of the colored women are prisoners. The sanitary condition was pronounced good. The water supply comes from the city hydrants. Religious services are held every Sunday by delegations from the various churches. New floors have recently been laid in three lower rooms and hall. The house is comfortably heated by stoves, burning both wood and coal. The report states that the general impressions of the house, farm, inmates and attendants are good. The land seems to be fair. They raise most of their vegetables and part of their meat. All seem contented and comfortable. The inspectors state that Mrs. Sherwood seems capable and motherly. The rooms of the inmates are clean, and the cots have good furnishings, and all things seem neat and clean.

Joshua R. Sherwood is the present superintndent, and Doctor W. A. Warfield the medical attendant.

The above will be read with pleasure by all citizens. There have been times when our city alms house was a subject of criticism. Such complaints, however, when investigated, were generally found to be groundless. The report of the State Board of Charities and Corections shows that our alms and work house are all that should be expected.

NOT TO CALL ASSEMBLY

Governor Believes Road Problem May be Handled Without Extra Meeting.

The General Assembly will not be called in extra session this year to match Federal appropriatons for roads in Virgina, if there is any possible way of saving this cost, according to a statement given out Saturday at the office of Gov. Westmoreland Davis.

Much influence has been brought to bear upon the chief executive, especially by the Virginia Good Roads Association, whose executive committee passed an urgent resolution on the subject, to convene the Legislature at an early date. The Governor, however, has made it plain that he wants to get around this exigency, if possible, and is opposed to increasing the tax burden unless the State is ready and fully prepared actively to launch at this time upon an extended road building program.

For the purpose of advising in the adoption of a good roads program for the State, the Governor yesterday announced the appointments of the Governor's advisory board on road construction, an organization composed of well known constructors and engineers, and headed by Harry Frazier, of Richmond.

BUILDING COMMITTEE

Meeting Tonight at Chamber of Commerce

There will be a meeting tonight at eight o'clock of the building committee, appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to report on some plan for the erection of houses in the city of Alexandria.

It is hoped that at this meeting some plan can be devised whereby regularly employed workers in the city of Alexandria can purchase homes for themselves, making a small cash payment on same, paying the balance in monthly installments.

PASSOVER

Jewish Feast Falls on Tuesday, April The 15th

The celebration of the Jewish feast of the Passover begins on the evening of April 14th with sundown. The manner of its observance was determined largely by the biblical ordinances concerning this feast. It is to be observed for a period of seven days. Those who cherish customs that originated after Bible times will keep the feast eight days.

The ceremonials are such as are calculated to bring home the historical event which the feast commemorates, namely the new born freedom vouchsafed to Israel after the long period of oppression endured under Egyptian tyranny. The eating of unleavened bread is enjoined a number of times in the bibical regulations touching the observance of the Passover feast. Unleavened bread is characterized as the "bread of affliction," and is also referred to in the Bible as the bread that was unleavened because of the enforced hasty departure from Egypt. In post-biblical times the earnest desire to keep the injunctions most scrupulously led the teachers of Israel to enact laws such as th euse of special dishes that had been guarded from contract with leaven and reserved only for the Passover season.

A charming and effective feature in the celebration of the feast is the special Sedar service around the festive family board on the first evening of the feast, to which the Orthodox add a second evening. At this family service a special ritual known as the "Hagga dah" is read. This ritual contains the story of the redemption from servitude, certain reflections inspired by the memories of old and certain psalms. This is followed by the festal meal after which Grace is recited The service concludes with the reading of additional psalm, the recitation of prayers and the singing of time honored hymns. To this home service stranger and homeless are cordially invited. On the table in front of him who presides over the meal are placed objects reminiscent of the ancient service and servitude, such as bitter herbs, reminder of the bitter lot of those who toiled in Egypt; a roast bone calling to mind the ancient paschal lamb; a roasted egg, memorial of the free will offering that was brought in addition to the paschal lamb; parsley and the bowl of salt water, symbolizing the hyssop and its use in the first Passover observed in Egypt, and a confection of nuts and apples to represent the clay which Israel worked into bricks.

The Passover falling at the beginning of Spring, had originally a pastoral and agricultural character which in time was over-shadowed by the historical event associated later with the feast. Freedom and its obligation is the keynote of the celebration. The Reform synagogues hold special services only on the first and seventh days. while the Orthodox observe also the second day and an additional eighth day.

SEMINOLE MINSTREL

As will be seen in another column of this paper, the committee in charge of the minstrel show to be given by the Seminole Players, have placed the reserved seats on sale at Warfield's drug store. The seats are selling fast and the indications are that a capacity house will greet these well known players at both performances. Rehearsals are being held on Monday and Thursday nights of each week and the audience will be given a big surprise when the curtain rises on the night of the show.

The minstrel is given for the benefit of Local No. 369 of the Shipbuilders and Helpers of America employed at the Virginia Shipbuilding Company.

LABOR'S VISION

A 6-hour workng day with a 2-hour lunch period for every industry is labor's vision of the industrial Eden as expressed in a demand by the Labor Congress recently held in Chicago says the Minneapolis Journal. "A 2-hour lunch sandwiched in between three 3-hour slices of labor looks good, if served out impartially to every working mortal and guaranteed to be permanent.

"But it cannot be made general nor can it be guaranteed to be permanent—not yet. The foundation industry of the world, the production of bread, butter and meat, cannot be pursued on the 6-hour plan. Sun and rain and frost determine the work hours of one-third, the agricultural third, of the labor of America. Farming cannot be made permanently profitable without domestic animals. These animals cannot be left alone for ... hours out of the 24.

"The model division of the day into eight hours for work, eight hours for sleep and eight hours for play may some day be realized for all labor that is not at the mercy of weather and season. But the farmer, by virtue of his calling, is compelled to spend at certain seasons more than eight hours in the field and much of the rest of his walking time in "choring around." If he works with horses he must feed them two hours before they begin work, and he must spend an hour after they quit work in making them fit for the next day's labor, A 10-hour day for the team in rush seasons is a necessity, and this means a 13-hour day for the farmer. Less than 10 hours for the horse means a rise in the cost of standard foods.

"Before the war farming was not a super-profitable industry. It was rather a mode of living. Much of the food produced on American farms was produced at a fictitiously low cost because the soil was being robbed. Dollar wheat is an impossibility in honest farming. It cannot be produced at that figure, if the fertility of the soil is maintained.

"The practicability of the 6-hour day, then, depends on whether six hours' work in every industry will maintain human life satisfactorily."

GERMANY WILL SIGN

The German Government may be afraid to sign what Germans call a "hard" peace, but it has vastly more reason to be afraid of rejecting the treaty that will be offered to it. The case of Hungary should be a warning. The Provisional Government of Hungary did not like the boundaries which it seemed probable that the peace conference would impose. These boundaries were proposed, not for the purpose of punishing Hungary, but to do justice to the Czecho-Slovaks, Ruthenians, Rumanians and Servians who were annexed to Hungary while it was a partner in the Dual Monarchy. But Karolyi thought to intimidate the Allies and America, or perhaps inspire armed resistance to them, by appealing to the "proletariat of the world."

The result is that Budapest at least, and apparently a good deal of Hungary besides, are in the hands of communists who are in league with the Bolsheviki and the Spartacans.

We believe the Ebert Government understands this, and while it will bluff the peace conference if it can it will sign the treaty. Of course, it will be attacked for that, but peace will be a powerful factor on its side. It is between the devil and the deep sea. In the latter case it would have some chance of swimming ashore. We do not believe it will choose the devil.

THE STORY OF DAEDALUS

In our early days while studying Greek and Roman mythology our eyes have glistened while poring over the thrilling adventure of Daedalus and his son Icarus. The story of the wooden horse which the East Indiamen used for aerial navigation was still more thrilling when we began to analyze "The Arabian Nights' Entertainments."

Berkeley Minor, of Richmond, sends the following to a Baltimore paper, which is reading in season now that the world is witnessing the conquest of the air:

The aviation feats of our time have been dreamed of by poets and other dreamers from earliest times, and ridiculed by more practical men, as Voltaire derided Newton as in his dotage, when Newton foretold the rapid transit that the locomotive was destined to give. Even in the old mythology we read of Daedalus making wings for self and son, Icarus, to escape from the tyrant of Crete, and of Icarus' sad fate, drowned in the Icarian Sea because he flew too high and too near the sun, his hat melted off his wings, and lovers of Tennyson recall his prophetic vision when "he dipt into the future far as human eye e'd see, Saw the vision of the world and all the wonders that would be." Tennyson wrote this about 1842. Cowper also dreamed, in the century before, of such triumphs, not in verse, but in his sweet and pleasing prose.

He writes thus to Rev. John Newton (Nov. 17, 1783): "My dear friend, I dreamt a night or two ago that I drove myself thro' the upper regions in a balloon and pair, with greatest ease and security. Having finished the tour I intended, I made a short turn, and with one flourish of my whip, descended, my horses prancing and coryetting, ("loop-the the loop." we might say), with an infinite show of spirit, but without the least danger either to me or my vehicle. The time, we may suppose, is at hand, and seems prognosticated by my dream, when these airy excursions will be universal, when judges will fly the circuit and bishops their visitations, when the tour of Europe will be performed with much greater speed and with equal advantage by all who travel, merely for the sake of having it to say that they have made it.

Tennyson's vision was more true, alas! For he forsees aircraft used for war as well as for peace, and so far aviation has been useful mainly for war. Cowper's dream is entirely peaceful. Let us hope and pray that by "league of nations," or any way that He may guide, so only when hereafter it may be useful.

And the battle flags are furled
"The war drums throb no longer
In the Parliament of man and the Federation of the world."

EXCESSIVE ZEAL

Even the best cause may be injured by the intemperance of its advocates, and all true friends of Prohibition will, we are sure, be both mortified and alarmed by the excesses perpetrated in the name of law and morality by the official agents of the Prohibition laws in Virginia.

At the instance of Director General Hines, Judge John Barton Payne, counsel to the Railroad Administration, has written to Prohibition Commissioner Peters of Virginia, calling his attention to the "many complaints of this character" originating in that State, and to Governor Davis declaring that "nothing is doing so much to injure the good name of Virginia as the conduct of the Prohibition officers." The singlar feautre of the situation is that there seem comparatively few complaints of this kind from other dry states in the South, and that the State which was formerly celebrated for its chivalrous treatment of women should be the principal offender in the disregard of ordinary decencies.

Other recent incidents seems to suggest that the trouble arises from a certain ruthlessness of spirit and a lack of sane discrimination on the part of the Prohibition administration in Virginia.

Near Winchester two bootleggers who refused to stop their automobile at the command of Prohibtion constabulary were shot and killed within the last ten days. A capital sentence was inflicted upon them on suspicion for an offense for which the law provides a much milder punishment when proved.

We realize the difficultes that surround the enforcement of the Prohibition law, and the desperate and extraordinary expedients to which violators will resort. If the law is to be enforced at all, State officials must exercise the keenest vigilance. But that vigilance ought to be guided and tempered by a sense of discrimination and by a respect for public and private rights. Otherwise a great injury and wrong will be done to the cause of Prohibition. It will be wounded in the house of its friends. This is said not in a spirit of destructive, but of constructive criticism. Those who believe in prohibition and want to see it triumph in fact as well as in law should be the first to frown upon anything which may promote popular reaction and hostility.—(Baltimore Sun.

EVOLUTION OF THE BICYCLE.

Among the items clipped from the files of a Richmond paper of fifty years ago and republished this week was the following:

"Richmond supports two velocipede schools now, and the mania is increasing every day."

The above will bring to the minds of many Alexandrians the introduction of what was then known as the velocipede half a century ago. Like Richmond, Alexandria had its riding school. It was in the fourth story of the Alexandria National Bank building, northeast corner of King and Royal streets. The proprietor of the place brought fifteen or twenty of the machines here and rented them at fifty cents an hour. They were crude contrivances compared with bicycles of our day. They were composed almost entirely of wood, with wheels on the order of those of old-fashined baby carriages. Pneumatic tires were then undreamed of, the wheels having iron-rimmed tires. There was but little danger of falling from these machines, as they were not as high as they are at present. When a rider found he was about to fall he merely placed his foot upon the floor and caught himself before capsizing.

The riders followed an oval course in the hall, riding to and fro around the room, steering clear of the pillars. It was difficult, at first, to master the velocipede, as the art seemed to be in properly balancing the body, and bending gradually in making turns. Once acquired, however, the modus operandi became simple.

The velocipede was the conception of a resident of New Orleans, who took the hint from similar machines used in France nearly one hundred before. The first made and used in the French capital were "walked," the man astraddle keeping his feet upon the ground and moving them with it. They were mostly used by the aristocracy, who soon tired of them. In the latter part of the sixties of the last century the man in New Orleans brought to the birth the pedals which at first were affixed to the hub of the front wheel. The velocipede subsequently gave way to the bicycle and later the motorcycle was evolved.

SUMMER FASHION BOOK ILLUSTRATING
Pictorial Review
Patterns

Is now on sale in our Pattern Store, street floor.

The very summery looking cover is a delightful invitation to enter into the attractive fashion show between the covers.

From the simple dainty frocks which can be made of gingham and linen, through a page or two o flace trimmed and tucked dresses of sheer materials of silks, voiles, Georgettes and other fabrics—the fancy wanders to dainty, delightful gowns for dinner parties and dances.

The young American girl has her needs considered in four pages of colored illustrations.

And farther on are new skirts, blouses and even bathing suits.

We have told only a small part of the interesting "style story" that runs through the whole issue.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

INGOMAR—Kitty Gordon

At the Ingomar Theatre tonight Kitty Gordon will be seen in "Tinsel," a modern story with an unusual theme.

"Tinsel" is filled with thrills, surprises, love, temptation, sincerity friendship, passion, good men and bad men, and all-pervading mother love.

It tells a story of a mother who knows the world and who realizes that her daughter is much too unsophisticated—that her daughter knows much too little about the world and the various types of men found in the world.

So the mother introduces the daughter to the world with astonishing results.

"Tinsel" is an absorbing photoplay and an immensely entertaining and interesting production.

Pearl White will also be shown.

GRAND THEATRE

Would you trust your heart to a girl who made her living singing and dancing in a frontier drinking place? Do you think such a girl could be worthy of your friendship?

How the forger was apprehended through the efforts of Cheyenne Harry, but released by him later, is shown in "Three Mounted Men," which comes to the Grand Theatre tomorrow.

Come early and be sure of a seat.

FOURTH WIFE FOUND

Rev. Darnell Was "Merle St. Clair" at Ceremony.

Rockford, Ill., April 7.—The fourth marriage of Rev. Morrison Darnell, convicted white slaver, was uncovered here yesterday with his detention by Rockford officials. Darnell, who recently completed a prison term at Leavenworth, was found to have married Miss Mildred Wells, of Elgin, Ill. Dr. Darnell, it is said used the name "Merle St. Clair" for this ceremony.

The "marrying parson" is wanted in Onawatana, Minn., where he was indicted on charges of child desertion. The parson said settlement of his parents' estate had left him $60,000. He blamed this new affluence for his difficulties.

SICK ANIMALS

Brute Creation Have a Way of Doctoring Themselves

Few people realize how many animals are constantly getting hurt and sick. The wild animls seldom get sick from what they eat, but the domestic animals frequently do. Wild animals get injured from fighting with other animals of their kind or in fights with animal enemies. In all cases, animls have a way of doctring themselves that is remarkble.

Animals suffering from fever eat nothing, keep quiet, seek darkness and airy places, drink much water and sometimes plunge into the water from time to time. When a dog has lost its appetite it eats that species of grass known as "dog's grass." Cats also eat grass, ctnip, etc., when sick, Sheep and cows in the same circumstances seek out certain wild plants.

If an ant's foot is cut, other ants will cover the wounded part with a transparent fluid from their mouths. If a chimpanzee is wounded it stops the flow of blood by placing its hand on the wound or dressing it with leaves and grass.

A terrier had an injured eye. It remained lying under a counter, avoiding heat and light, although it had been its habit to keep close to the fire. It adopted the general treatment—rest and abstinence from food. The local treatment consisted in licking the paw when it became dry. Cats, when hurt, also treat themselves by this simple method.

The methods adopted by most of the wild animls for doctoring themselves are unknown to man, but there is no doubt that every animal has the ability to skilfully doctor itself. —The Christian Herald.

EXPLOSION OF TANK

Two Killed, Five Others Are Severely Injured.

Key West, Fla., April 7.—Explosion of a gasoline tank aboard United States submarine chaser No. 205, at the naval training dock here Saturday, caused the death of two of the crew and injury to five others. A great hole was blown in the side of the vessel.

William Hughes, of Brooklyn, a machinist's mate, was instantly killed and his body was recovered from the harbor last night. Clarence G. Clofer, of Excelsior, Minn., chief machinist's mate , was fatally injured and died later. Daniel B. Inman, of Georgetown, S. C., a machinist, was the most seriously hurt of the five injured. He has a chance to recover.

The other injured, who, it was said, were only slightly hurt, included John T. Register, Wilmington, N. C.; Ensign E. A. Daniel, of Beaufort, N. C.; in command of the chaser, is quoted as saying he could not definitely assign a cause for the explosion but thought it might have been caused by compressed air or gasoline, or possibly both.

A dispatch from Richmond says mystery surrounding the alleged seizure of a carload of liquor Tuesday night by unidentified men, presumably bootleggers, who followed another car on the Seven Pines Road and are said to have captured it, after exchanging shots with the occupants.

Stop the "Snuffles"

If you want to make your distressed babies easy and comfortable, give

Foley's Honey and Tar.

It is just what they ought to have for feverish colds, coughs, "snuffles," and wheezy breathing. It stops croup, too.

Foley's Honey and Tar tastes good and the little ones like it. It contains no morphine, chloroform or other drug that you wouldn't like to give to young children. Do not accept a substitute.

Mrs. B. H. Garrett, Schoolfield, Va., writes:—"My baby was stricken with a severe cough and cold at one month old. I gave him ten to fifteen drops of Foley's Honey and Tar every three hours and it surely did help him. He hasn't been sick a day since."
